

Manufacturer's Declaration on Asbestos

Since the discovery of its toxicity, asbestos has been banned in the European Union and in most other countries. Asbestos minerals have been used in some construction products in the past. However, in wood based boards, asbestos does not have a technical purpose and is also not known to be a regular contaminant in recycling wood.

Fritz EGGER GmbH & Co. OG hereby confirms that the six asbestos minerals are not added anywhere in the production of our products, nor emitted by any of our products.
